

Learning in the new way of working

A “sine qua non” reflection for kindling your being in the workplace

“I do not have enough time to learn.”

90%

L&D globally

90% of companies do not have a reward system for learning (badges, games, points)

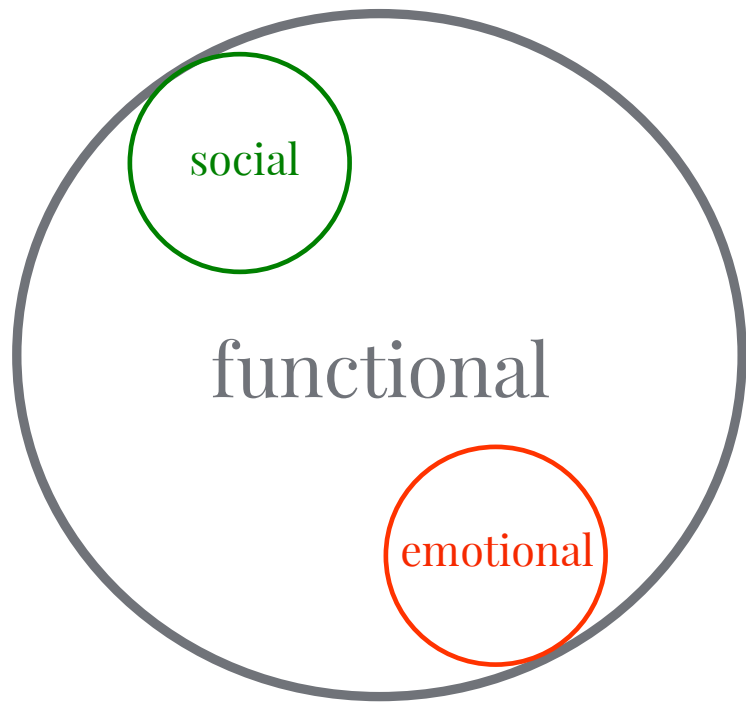

50% of Senior Managers are concerned that employees do not always have the right skills to execute business strategy.

10% of companies have a skills database with profiles for all employees.
